

Forrestal to Visit Truman, Learn Fate

Key West, Fla., Nov. 17 —(AP)—Announcement that Secretary of Defense Forrestal is flying down tomorrow to have lunch with President Truman, stirred speculation today that the time of his departure from the cabinet will be discussed.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said simply that Forrestal will be a guest of the chief executive at his Southern "White House" on the naval submarine base.

The defense secretary told a news conference in Paris that he does not expect to serve out another four years in the cabinet. He said he was leaving up to Mr. Truman to decide when his resignation will become effective.

The president talked with Forrestal by long-distance telephone this morning, Ross said. In the conversation, Forrestal expressed a desire to see the chief executive. Whereupon, the president invited him to fly down from Washington to have lunch at his quarters in the commandant's house.

Representative Sam Rayburn (D-Texas), the prospective speaker of the House, again who the Democrats organize it in January, is coming in tomorrow also. Ross said Rayburn would arrive in time for dinner.

Ross made it clear that Mr. Truman had not "summoned" Forrestal to Florida. There is the possibility the defense chief will fly back tomorrow afternoon.

Ross said 40,000 pieces of mail and 10,000 telegrams of congratulation have been received at the White House in Washington alone since Mr. Truman's election victory.

Mr. Truman's delay in reorganizing his administrative was attributed by close associates today to concern about picking replacements for those who are to go.

These sources, unquoteable by name, said the president is in no hurry to shake up his cabinet until he can complete selection of a team to carry on during the next four years.

As he told a news conference here yesterday, everybody has been shuffling the cabinet around but the president. Mr. Truman added he would act at the proper time.

His major problem will be to pick a successor to Forrestal and a man to succeed Robert B. Lovett when the latter steps out as under-secretary of state.

Meanwhile, the president: Went to the beach again for a swim and a sunbath, taking his daughter, Margaret, with him.

Received a telegram from Princess Elizabeth thanking him for his message of felicitation on the birth of her son.

Let some of his aides go to Boca Chica airport to take a ride in a navy blimp.

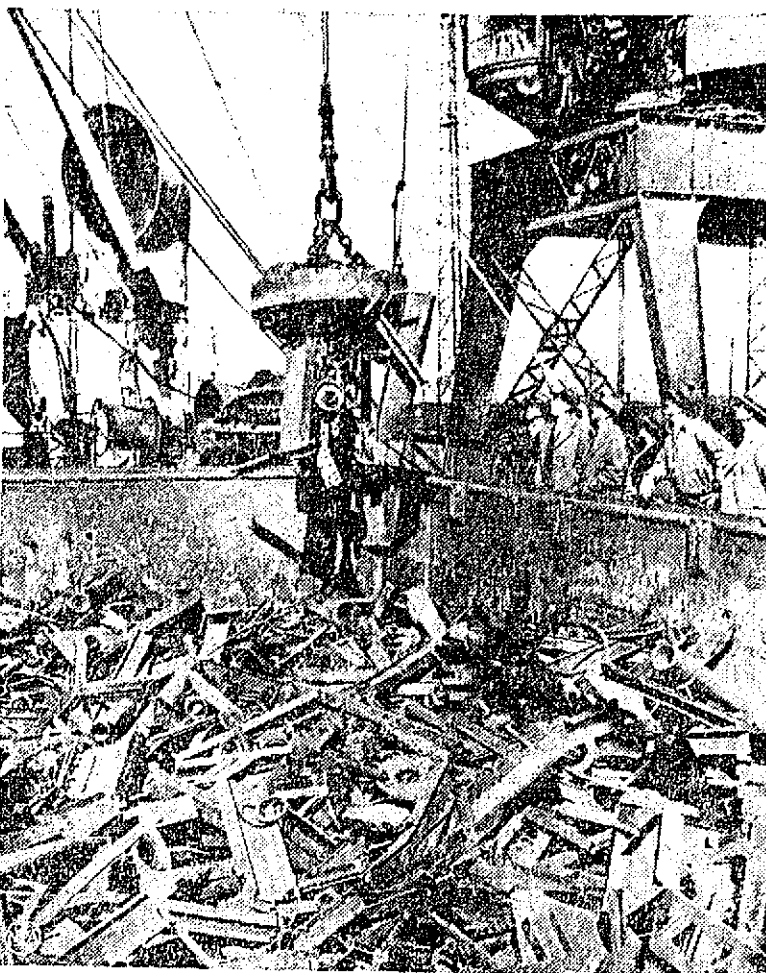

Mr. Truman, these close advisers said, will try to persuade Secretary of State Marshall to remain on the job. He is later meets with him at the White House Monday for a full-scale review of the delicate international situation.

Meanwhile, the chief executive flew up to General Marshall's home to suggest by Secretary General of the United Nations and President Evatt of the UN General Assembly that he and the heads of the four nations negotiate an end to the Berlin blockade independently of the United Nations.

The president, however, said that the United States will not participate in any peace talks of this nature until Soviet Russia lifts its blockade of the German capital.

Mr. Truman is flying back to Washington Sunday to bring an end to his two weeks post-campaign vacation at the naval submarine base here.

Scrap From Big Scrap Comes Home

Something over three years ago this steel scrap was shipped from the U. S. to Germany—in the form of cannon, shells, tanks, trucks and other material that helped the German Army. Now it's coming home to help cure the critical scrap shortage in America's steel mills. This cargo, first of 200,000 tons to come, is being unloaded at Port Richmond, near Philadelphia.

Laney Actually Paved Way for Bond Issue

By BOB BROWN
Little Rock, Nov. 17 (UP)—Gov. Ben Laney, virulent opponent of any increase in Arkansas' bonded indebtedness, is finding himself in the odd position of having smoothed the way for a bond issue by the next administration.

Leading fiscal experts agreed today that had it not been for Laney's work in stabilizing state finances and obtaining Eastern recognition for Arkansas securities, any sale of additional bonds would be difficult. And, even if purchasers could be found, without Laney's work the interest rate on any new issues probably would be prohibitive.

Any matters now stand—with the state's balanced budget and sound fiscal standing—the experts believe it will be comparatively easy to sell bonds should the people approve Gov.-elect S. W. McMath's highway construction program. And, they add, the interest could be low. Perhaps below 3.2 per cent being paid on current highway securities.

McMath was elected on a platform to sell bonds to build highways and at the present time a sub-committee of the state legislative council is working out the necessary legislation. The 1949 general assembly will be asked to act quickly on the bills so that the election may be called before the legislators adjourn.

When Laney came into office four years ago, Arkansas securities were not in good repute. Eastern investors, they were not approved by the state banking departments of New York or Connecticut as suitable investments for savings banks and trust funds.

Following a trip to New York by Governor Laney, both states placed Arkansas back on their approved lists, greatly expanding the market for the state's bonds. Bringing the credit of the big Eastern money into the fold had the effect of lowering interest rates of state securities by increasing their value.

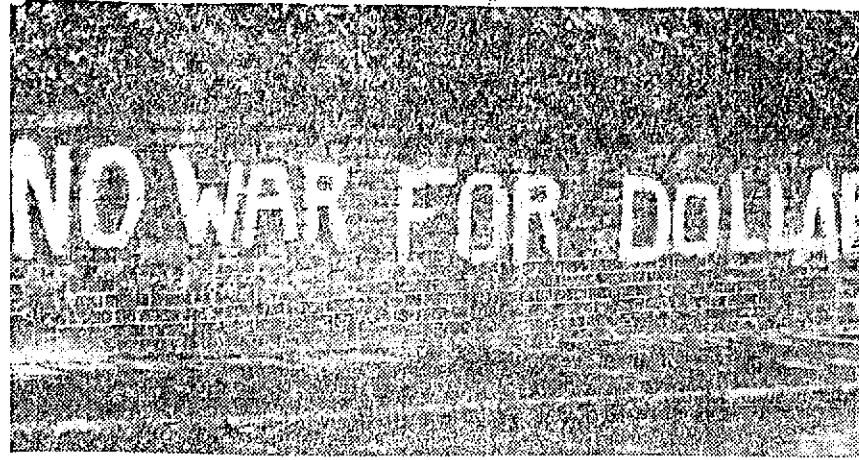

In addition "Business Ben" sponsored legislation revising the state's fiscal policy. The move provided for the distribution of all state funds on a per centage basis and for the retirement of all of the state's non-highway bonds.

This, plus the increased industrialization of the state during Laney's administration, tended to restore confidence of money lenders in Arkansas.

Observers believe that the governor's past actions, plus future legislative guarantees, leading to proper expenditure of proceeds of any bond issue, would go far in overcoming the reluctance of financiers to boost the state's enormous $18,000,000 highway bonded indebtedness.

Laney himself still believes that the "creation of an additional debt" is not the answer to the highway problem. But he refuses to say whether he will fight a bond proposal if it should be presented to the people.

Just Another Way to Pick Up $10,000

Pine Bluff, Nov. 17 —(AP) Want to pick up an "easy" $10,000? There's nothing to it. All you have to do is locate a good sized batch of uranium, the key material in atomic bombs.

A reward of that amount has been offered by the atomic energy commission for discovery of the radioactive substance.

State Geologist Harold Foxhall said here yesterday the AEC has been conducting extensive tests in Arkansas for the element.

Food Price Drop Won't Help Much

Philadelphia, Nov. 17 —(AP)—Mrs. Housewife can count on a drop in food prices, but she shouldn't expect the cost of living to go down.

A man who ought to know, Evan Clague, commissioner of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the food price fall will be balanced by increases in items in heavy demand.

Among these he listed rents, steel, automobiles and Marshall plan exports.

Clague spoke yesterday at a conference arranged by the industrial council of the Chamber of Commerce.

"At present," he told 250 business executives, "our consumer prices have reached a peak and farm prices are, if anything, coming down."

"At the same time," Clague added, "there is a tremendous upward pressure starting in commodities where there still exists a heavy pent-up demand."

Clague figured that "the general economic outlook appears very favorable," adding that industrial employment is at an all-time high with 46,000,000 holding jobs, a gain of 3,000,000 since the end of the war.

He warned, however, that shortages in the supply of skilled labor "will very likely occur on a greater scale than has been true since the war years, and many employers in some areas will find themselves badly pinched for labor."

Returning to the consumer demand for commodities, Clague predicted that "some readjustments" will be made "in industries where production has caught up with demand and where some consumer resistance to high prices is evident."

"These include such lines," he said, "as textiles, clothing, shoes, radios, furniture, and some electrical appliances. These readjustments, however, are not likely to be sharp or to affect the general economic outlook."

90,000 Reds

road from the West after a forced march of 180 miles.

The effectiveness of General Pao's troops in bolstering Suichow defenses was undetermined since at least two Red columns paraded them across the country.

Hankow reports said thousands of arkers there were digging trenches outside the city as additional defenses to Communist raids.

Qualified observers here hold the opinion the Reds were regrouping for another assault instead of being on the run.

Most Chinese expressed doubt that the Suichow "victory" was as sweeping as pictured by the newspapers and government. But it appeared that Chiang Kai-shek's troops at least held their own in the first phases of the great Suichow battle in which more than 1,000,000 men reportedly were committed.

Worried Chinese were told by the Chinese Central News Agency the Communists had suffered on the Suichow front less than 200 miles from their capital "the most disastrous defeat ever received from the hands of government troops."

The official agency reported wholesale surrenders of Red army soldiers fleeing through a "wall of bullets and bombs."

(The Communist radio gave a sharply different picture. It indicated Red troops were pushing East to clamp a pincer on government forces. Suichow itself, under this version, no longer would have any serious tactical value in the battle affecting all Central China.)

The broadcast claimed seizure of Suining, 48 miles Southeast of Suichow. This would be less than 60 miles from joining the ends of a great encirclement around Suichow, for the insurgents appear to have isolated Suichow, 58 miles South-west of Suining.

The Shanghai newspaper Sin Wan Pao reported the Communists were attacking the city gates of Suichow, an important railroad center. Red artillery fire rained on the city Monday, the newspaper said. Nationalist reinforcements were reported diverted to this area.

The Communist radio had Suichow captured Tuesday morning. "indications from North China were that the Communists had moved into Peiping, capital of Peking Province, Gen. Fu Tso-yi announced in Peiping, his garrison withdrew from the Eastern and Southern gates of the walled city, only 90 miles Southwest of Peiping. His headquarters said, however, 300 Reds were killed in a "fruitless attack" on the West gate.

The North China commander, facing possible Communist attempts to seize Peiping and Tientsin, reported the situation around Awei-shan, capital of Suichow, as improved. He said there were no Reds within 26 miles Southeast of the city.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Nov. 17 —(AP)—The advance in grain prices moved right along today, despite some heavy selling on the way up. Wheat took over the market's leadership as milling interests bought large quantities of December and May contracts.

December wheat sold at the best price since April while July and September reached new seasonal highs.

December corn touched a new high for the past four months. September corn and July and September oats made new seasonal highs.

Continuation of the longshoremen's strike on the Northern Atlantic coast had little influence on prices. Wheat closed 1-1/4-1-1/2 higher, December 2-3/4-3-1/4, corn was 5-8-1/2 to 1 cent higher, December 1-1/4-1-1/2, oats were 1-1/4-1-1/2 higher, December 1-1/4-1-1/2, soybeans were 12 lower to 1-3/4 higher, November $2.65-3-1/4, and hard wheat was unchanged to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $18.55.

Spot wheat was called nominally higher with the futures trade today. Although no sales in the cash division were reported, receipts were steady to higher, basis unchanged to a cent lower; bookings 75,000 bushels receipts 479 cars. Oats were higher with the futures, basis 1-2 cent up; receipts 23 cars. Soybeans receipts were 23 cars.

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, Nov. 17 —(AP)—Commission house and New Orleans buying accounted for moderate gains in cotton futures today.

The market was easy in early dealings on persistent hedge selling. Offerings were absorbed principally through midday buying against textile sales until later in the session when commission house demand developed.

Futures closed 20 to 45 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Hopes Bright for End to Shipping Strike

By The Associated Press
There appeared some hope today of early settlement of the 11 weeks old West Coast shipping strike but no progress was reported toward ending the walkout of 65,000 East Coast APL stevedores.

Effects of the shipping tieup in ports from Maine to Virginia were being felt in many segments of industry and business. Estimates of dollars into many millions of dollars were the workers' Association Longshoremen's union reached a tentative agreement on the issue of hiring halls. The hiring halls will stay under the union control.

Other issues up for discussion include wages, vacations with pay and grievance machinery. The 28,000 workers are seeking a 15 cents an hour pay raise in the present wage scale of $4.17, or 13 cents, retroactive of June 15 when their contract expired.

The AFL screen extras guild in Hollywood said its members voted proposal for continuing the 80 days extra's pay strike of $2.45 a day. The guild said it will ask the studios to make a new offer.

For the third day a strike of 150 bus drivers and mechanics of the Edwards Lines-Sas system of halted operations over 1,500 miles of route in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Washington, D. C. The AFL, Amalgamated Association of Street Car, Electric Railway and Coachmen Employees Union is seeking a wage hike of 10 per cent. The company has offered six per cent. The present rate for drivers is 5.55 cents a mile and $1.27 an hour for mechanics.

The American Federation of Labor, in convention in Cincinnati, today had for consideration a proposal to raise $750,000 to be used in the fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

how failed to materialize. Fewer was in, they had been assured by the newspapers, their radio commentators, their columnists, their poll takers and their barbers. Never before in history had so many words been written to support a foregone conclusion. And never before were so many predictions scrapped on the morning after an election. Making Swedish rolls and Honey twist bread was the demonstration given by Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood at the Hope Demonstration Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Roy Gates on November 12.

Eleven old members and one new member, Mrs. C. E. Whitten, answered roll call with the one thing they were most thankful for. Each member brought two jars of canned food to be sent to the Civilian Children's home in Little Rock.

During the business session new officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. J. W. White; vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Hargis; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Oscar F. Wick; reporter, Mrs. James Lauterbach and recreation leader, Mrs. L. J. Purdie.

Plans were made for the County Council Christmas Party. Gifts will be exchanged and each member was asked to bring a gift for the white elephant sale. Plans were also made for a food sale to be held in the downtown Hope in the near future.

The surprise package going to Mrs. Lauterbach brought $1.10. The recreation was under the supervision of Mrs. James Lauterbach, prize going to Mrs. J. C. McCullough.

The hostess served cakes, sandwiches, cookies and the delicious Swedish rolls.

Liberty Hill
Making sweet yeast dough was the demonstration given by the home agent when the Liberty Hill Club met at the home of Mrs. Alice Nichols on November 9. After it was shown how the dough was made the agent was assisted in making the Swedish Tea Ring and Honey Twist by Mrs. Jo Williams and Mrs. Grace Hucklebee.

The vice-president, Mrs. Jo Williams, presided at this meeting in the absence of the president. The members and two visitors were present. After the secretary gave the report of the last meeting, officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Jo Williams was elected president, Mrs. Birdie Mae Betts, vice-president, and Mrs. Blanche Byers, secretary and treasurer.

Due to the County Council Christmas party being on our regular meeting day next month, it was decided the next meeting would be held Monday, December 13 at the home of Mrs. Virgie Hucklebee for the Club's Christmas party.

During the recreation period, a game was played, Mrs. Yvonne Morgan, acting as referee.

After being served refreshments by the hostess, the club adjourned.

Police Continue Search for Rape Slayer

Boulder, Colo., Nov. 16 (AP)—Already swamped with tips and leads in the rape-slaying of a co-ed, authorities today asked the help of Boulder women who have been molested in the past year.

Sheriff Arthur Everson asked them to report any incidents similar to that which led to the death of Theresa Foster, 18-year-old University of Colorado co-ed a week ago. He said he thought many "mascher" incidents were not reported because the victims feared the publicity.

Men were held for questioning at Ogden, Utah, and Canyon City, Colo., one because of blood-stained clothing and the other because of blood found in an automobile trunk. Both claimed they were not here when Miss Foster was raped and strangled to death.

Because of the hunt for a blood-stained car, Boulder residents have become hesitant about washing their automobiles. Among the hundreds of tips investigated have been dozens which turned up innocent motorists cleaning their cars.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Fibrositis may be considered as a form of rheumatism with involvement of the soft tissues such as the muscles and ligaments. Ordinarily in fibrositis there is pain in several parts of the body, decrease in ability to move, and stiffness. Such terms as muscular rheumatism and lumbago are essentially the same as fibrositis.

The end of the word "itis," means inflammation. Consequently fibrositis implies that there is a slight inflammation of certain of the soft tissues. As one would expect, this inflammation may start suddenly with pain in some part of the body for no apparent reason. At other times it may begin gradually with fatigue coming before the soreness, pain and stiffness.

The most common locations are around the shoulder and lower portion of the back, the neck, the tissues around the large joints, and the chest wall. It is almost always present but swelling is for less constant. Nodules or little bumps under the skin are frequently felt in or near the tender region.

The causes of fibrositis are numerous. The most common is associated with some infectious or toxic condition. This is one kind of rheumatism in which removal of an infected tooth or infected tonsil is quite likely to be of benefit. Injury is also a common cause but sometimes the injury may have been so slight as hardly to have been noticed. Cold, overexertion and overexposure are commonly associated.

The treatment depends on what appears to be the cause and what can be done for that cause. If the fibrositis, for example, is associated with an acute infection, then rest and the appropriate treatment of that infection is needed. If it comes with upset stomach, constipation and intestines, perhaps a liquid or soft diet is in order. The removal of an infected tooth or tonsils may play a part but have to be used with care.

Fibrositis is extremely widespread.

THE STORY
Time, 1880 Place, New Orleans
Well-to-do Louis Durand carries on a correspondence courtship with a Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. When she finally comes from St. Louis to marry him, he is amazed to find her young and ravishingly beautiful—entirely different from what he had been led to expect. "Certain behavior of hers puzzles him from the first but not until a letter arrives from her supposed sister—Miss Russell's sister—does he realize the woman he married is an impostor. Before he can face her, she disappears from his bank account. The police tell him he has no case as things stand. They advise him to go to St. Louis and get proof a crime was committed against the real Julia Russell.

The City of Baton Rouge reached the St. Louis docks at 9 p.m., days later.

He emerged cityward of the pier, found a coach and, despite the advanced hour, gave Bertha Russell's address. He wanted to know, whether for best or worst, he wanted to know at once.

He couldn't tell much about the house from the outside in the gloom. It seemed large enough. It was in a vicinity of eminent cleanliness and respectability.

A woman of about fifty, or very close upon it, answered his ring. A tall, large-built woman.

She wore a dress of stiff black alpaca, a string of white crocheted collar closing its throat and fastened by a catenian brooch.

"Yes," she said on a rising inflection, in answer to his question, "I'm Bertha Russell. Do I know you?"

"I'm Louis Durand," he replied gravely. "I've just arrived from New Orleans."

He heard her draw a sharp breath. She stared for a long moment, as if familiarizing herself with him. Then abruptly slanted the door inward. "Come in, Mr. Durand," she said. "Come in the house."

She sat across the table from him. He could see her throbbing with a mixture of excitement and anticipatory fear.

"Now what can you tell me?" he queried. "It's what you can tell me."

She nodded somewhat dourly. "Very well, then, I can tell you this: My sister Julia received a proposal of marriage from you, by letter, on about the fifteenth of April of this year. Do you deny that?"

He brushed away the necessity of a direct answer to that, held silent to let her continue.

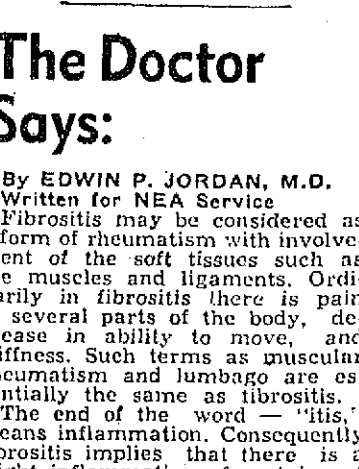

"My sister Julia left here on Monday the eighteenth to join you in New Orleans," he eyes bored into his. "That was the last I saw of her. Since that date I have not heard from her again." She drew a long,

Mrs. J. Huett Succumbs in Hope Hospital

Mrs. Jimmy Huett, aged 52, died last night at a local hospital after a long illness. She lived practically all her life in Hempstead County. Funeral services were to be held at 2:30 p.m. today at Palmos.

4-H'ers Send Fawn to Uruguay

A group of good neighbors—the youngsters of the New Jersey 4-H clubs—are sending Girlie, this 14-month-old fawn, to a zoo in Montevideo, Uruguay. Girlie gets a parting snack from 4-H'ers June Snook before leaving by plane from Newark, N. J.

Teachers, Old Trade Schools Age Funds May for Negroes Mean Tax Hike Start Dec. 1

By JIM THOMASSON
Little Rock, Nov. 17 (AP)—Can old age pensions and school teachers' salaries be increased without increasing taxes?

A majority of the members of the 1949 general assembly who are expected to meet in January, said they think they can.

Of the 30 legislators replying, 19 said the increases could be made without more taxes; nine expressed doubt or said no; three offered divided opinions and five were non-committal.

The group believing the increases possible included Senators Ernest Maner, Hot Springs; Grover Nance, Newport and Repps, Warren; Eugene El Dorado; Charles F. Smith, Marietta; Lindell H. Murfreesboro; R. C. Willis, Stuttgart; Alex James, Yellville; J. J. Winfield, Little Rock; Floyd M. Thompson, Little Rock; Floyd M. Thompson, Little Rock; Extra E. Ricketts, DeWittville; and Jesse S. Smith, Van Buren.

Senator Maner suggested a "radical" method of raising the money, by assessing all property 100 cents on the dollar and reduce the rate proportionately; require persons to assess full value of personal property and real estate; require tax assessors to be informed of all taxpayers' assets within 30 days; stopping sales tax "leaks" will help.

Most of the others in that group made similar suggestions. Senator Nance added that he favored increases and "if necessary will vote to secure additional taxes from some source."

Representative Wimberly said "eliminate unnecessary expense and waste and we will have sufficient funds." But Representatives Thompson and Smith of Van Buren said only slight increases.

However, Smith added, "I have some doubt that they can be raised as high as is needed without some additional taxes."

The group unable to see how the increases could be made without more taxes included Senators Eagle Stone, Cave City; J. L. Garner, Fort Smith; J. Ed Thompson, Paragould; Howard Holthoff, Gould; R. D. Smith, Jr., Marietta; and Repps, H. G. Leather, Berryville; and Paul Payne, Fayetteville; F. W. Walker, Little Rock, and M. O. Raley, Paragould.

Senator Garner said the increases could not be granted without diverting funds from some other state added, "The state is poor and has never can have any money until they are first collected from the people in taxes."

Senators Thompson and Smith and Representative Clarence Taylor, Helena, suggested the possibility of increasing income tax through use of government or surplus funds, but saw no possibility of hiking teacher pay without more taxes.

Representative Payne, on the other hand, said passage of Amendment 40 to the constitution might improve teachers' salaries but added "as to the very deserving old age pensioners, I am at a loss to know where added revenue would come from."

Sen. F. C. Crow, Hope and Rep. James Campbell, Hot Springs, said frankly, "I don't know." Campbell said "I'm leaning on sales tax to help do it," and Crow added:

"I certainly feel the old people have been taken advantage of, as funds raised for them have been appropriated to paint university buildings and for other non-welfare uses."

Senator Holthoff suggested that "economic changes in the near future will bring about a situation in which the present scale of pensions and salaries is more nearly on a parity with other measures."

MRS. CARNES HONORED
Chicago, Nov. 17 (AP)—The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults has named Mrs. James Carnes, Little Rock, Ark., to its executive committee.

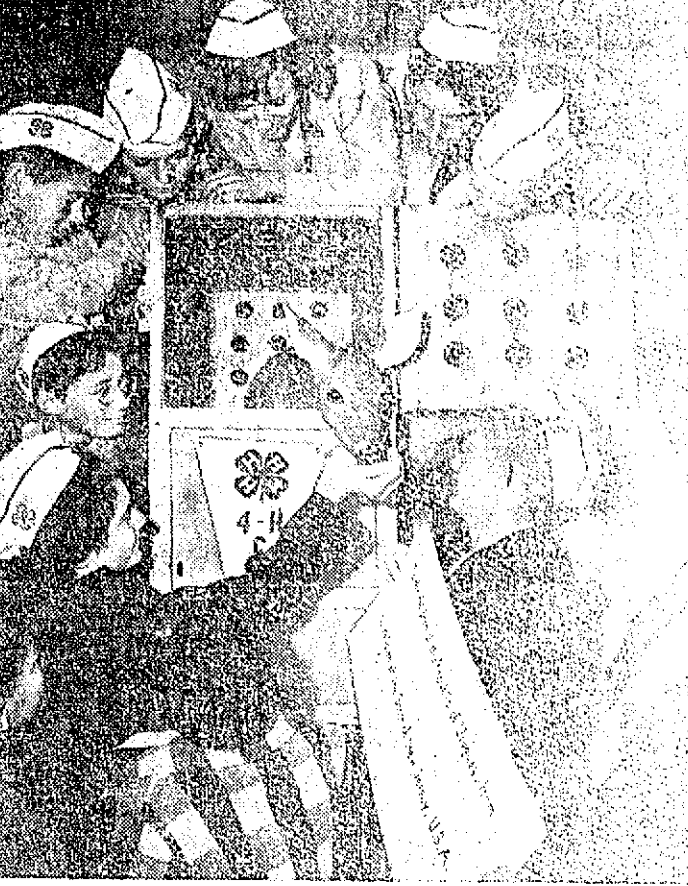

Her appointment was announced at a meeting of the society here yesterday.

Several hundred members of the society have had attacks of the disease. There is a strong tendency for recovery without any treatment. When treatment is used, it is based on the nature and location of the cause.

QUESTION: Is it safe to take vitamin A and vitamin B in combination?

ANSWER: Yes.

Fair Enough

So you voted against Taft-Hartley because the union racketeers told you it was a slave-labor law.

Let me tell you about the real slavery under unionism, which the Taft-Hartley law tried to abolish.

Then you will see why Dan Tobin, the union racketeer, and the whole roster of pot-bellied labor tyrants, living amid really royal luxury and todayism in their royal courts, were dead against Taft-Hartley.

Never mind about Truman or the moment and his reasons for throwing in with such brutal man-traders. Let us consider the facts of labor-slavery under unionism.

Kings used to trade principalities and include the people along with the cattle and the wild life on the land. The people were feeble objects without personality or volition. Under unionism in the United States that is all you are. A mole, a pig, you!

I have told you that the hod-carriers' union is the dirtiest racket in our underworld history. In Chicago, the king of the hod-carriers was Mike Carrozzo, a great friend and intimate of Mayor Ed Kelly, that fine, reforming, respectable, honest, and likeable man.

At least a half-dozen others are likely to join the "100 yards a game club," an exclusive organization to which only 17 men have been admitted in the last decade.

Price rolled up 124 yards in Tulane's 35-13 victory over Baylor last Saturday to increase his season's ground yardage to 892 and to become the nation's second highest yardage leader.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics show the rushing department is still led by Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, who with 1,057 yards promises to give the Little Border Conference its third straight champion in this specialty.

Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons was top ground gainer in 1946 and Wilson Davis of the same school won the honor last year.

They had better honor last year. They had better honor last year. They had better honor last year.

By a process too obscure to relate here, Carrozzo had acquired from the international union of pavers, rumpmen, flag-layers, and so forth, in short a union of government workers. He was president.

Carrozzo had a monopoly on a paving compound which Ed Kelly's city administration favored. They also excluded ready-mixed concrete from Chicago as a paving material.

On Feb. 9, 1937, Carrozzo made a treaty with Moreschi, transferring his entire union, together with its jurisdiction over all its members, to Greasy Joe.

Carrozzo's faceless men had nothing to say about it. They didn't even know. Their little king just made a deal with the bigger king and they were conveyed from one sovereignty to another like pigs on the land.

All this was the official record of William Greasy Joe, president, and the entire executive council of the A. F. of L. Green is one of those who put on the lips of President Truman the howl that Taft-Hartley was a slave-labor law.

Truman knew the score, though. He knew.

At that time, Moreschi's Union had not held a national convention nor an election of officers since September, 1911. That was 26 years.

Moreschi had not been elected president. He and the other racketeers had just elected themselves. Carrozzo's Union of pavers, rumpmen, flag-layers, and so forth, had an election. Never.

Mike just kept on stopping faceless men on the streets of Chicago. Ignorant hunks howling in the dirty slums. And the A. F. of L. granted Mike a charger tantamount to a title of ownership of all men so employed.

After the trade, Carrozzo ceased to be king but became a duke of the same zone that he ruled before. Chicago was no longer an independent kingdom of the pavers' union but a duchy of the hod-carriers' union. He ruled until he died a rich man with a lavish farm stocked with pure-bred animals.

William Green, President, Truman's labor boss and adviser on the Taft-Hartley law, signed one of the official articles for the A. F. of L.

This kind of thing goes on constantly. The members are not consulted. You are just traded like much farm stock and then told, "You get new union cards which are actually work-permits graciously authorizing you to earn your living during the pleasure of a Mike Carrozzo, a Greasy Joe Moreschi, a Dan Tobin or a John L. Lewis. Yes, you!"

Tobin is the most rapacious and arrogant headhunter of the present time. His swollen, fat head's cruelty is the more awful in that he is a man with a gentle infatuation with himself. Actually an ignoramus, as his pompous editorials often show, he regards himself as a wise, inflexible king. His powers are far more terrible than any powers of our government short of the legal death penalty. His goons might beat you to death, however, and the supreme court might knock it if the killing were done strictly in the interests of the union.

The court has actually condoned beatings in the union's interest.

In 1917, the hod-carriers' gang took over the international union of compressed air and foundation workers. No debate. No vote. In 1919 it took over all street cleaners' unions. No debate. No vote. Also in 1919 the A. F. of L. "awarded" thousands of shipyard workers to the hod-carriers in 1929, they absorbed the Tunnel and Subways Constructors' International Union.

In 1930, G. B. Dioguardi, a sports fellow with a racing stable, in return for certain considerations, added to Moreschi his outfit of faceless men—pigs, for all their volition in the matter—under a treaty merging the bricklayers' helpers' united building and common laborers' union with Moreschi's racket.

These racketeers are the people who sent out the expensive pamphlets and hired the radio time to tell you that Taft-Hartley meant slavery.

The Chinese always write their family names first.

What Does It Matter — SMU Won Anyway

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 17 (AP)—Did Leon Campbell's knee touch the ground on that 68-yard run against Methodist University Saturday?

The Dallas News apparently thinks so.

Reporting on a color movie of the SMU-Arkansas game at Fayetteville, Ark., the paper charged that the knee of the Arkansas fullback hit the ground before he crossed the goal line on his dash for the second Razorback touchdown.

The paper said the film also showed that John Milan, SMU wingman, was in bounds when he caught an apparent touchdown pass from Gil Johnson on the next-to-the-last play of the game.

Officials ruled that Milan was out of the end zone when he snagged the ball.

Tulane Star Has Top Record on the Ground

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Ed Price, Tulane's churning fullback, is almost certain to become the third football player of a big time college team in ten years to pass the 1,000-yard mark in rushing.

At least a half-dozen others are likely to join the "100 yards a game club," an exclusive organization to which only 17 men have been admitted in the last decade.

Price rolled up 124 yards in Tulane's 35-13 victory over Baylor last Saturday to increase his season's ground yardage to 892 and to become the nation's second highest yardage leader.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics show the rushing department is still led by Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, who with 1,057 yards promises to give the Little Border Conference its third straight champion in this specialty.

Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons was top ground gainer in 1946 and Wilson Davis of the same school won the honor last year.

They had better honor last year. They had better honor last year. They had better honor last year.

By a process too obscure to relate here, Carrozzo had acquired from the international union of pavers, rumpmen, flag-layers, and so forth, in short a union of government workers. He was president.

Carrozzo had a monopoly on a paving compound which Ed Kelly's city administration favored. They also excluded ready-mixed concrete from Chicago as a paving material.

On Feb. 9, 1937, Carrozzo made a treaty with Moreschi, transferring his entire union, together with its jurisdiction over all its members, to Greasy Joe.

Carrozzo's faceless men had nothing to say about it. They didn't even know. Their little king just made a deal with the bigger king and they were conveyed from one sovereignty to another like pigs on the land.

All this was the official record of William Greasy Joe, president, and the entire executive council of the A. F. of L. Green is one of those who put on the lips of President Truman the howl that Taft-Hartley was a slave-labor law.

Truman knew the score, though. He knew.

At that time, Moreschi's Union had not held a national convention nor an election of officers since September, 1911. That was 26 years.

Moreschi had not been elected president. He and the other racketeers had just elected themselves. Carrozzo's Union of pavers, rumpmen, flag-layers, and so forth, had an election. Never.

Mike just kept on stopping faceless men on the streets of Chicago. Ignorant hunks howling in the dirty slums. And the A. F. of L. granted Mike a charger tantamount to a title of ownership of all men so employed.

After the trade, Carrozzo ceased to be king but became a duke of the same zone that he ruled before. Chicago was no longer an independent kingdom of the pavers' union but a duchy of the hod-carriers' union. He ruled until he died a rich man with a lavish farm stocked with pure-bred animals.

William Green, President, Truman's labor boss and adviser on the Taft-Hartley law, signed one of the official articles for the A. F. of L.

This kind of thing goes on constantly. The members are not consulted. You are just traded like much farm stock and then told, "You get new union cards which are actually work-permits graciously authorizing you to earn your living during the pleasure of a Mike Carrozzo, a Greasy Joe Moreschi, a Dan Tobin or a John L. Lewis. Yes, you!"

Tobin is the most rapacious and arrogant headhunter of the present time. His swollen, fat head's cruelty is the more awful in that he is a man with a gentle infatuation with himself. Actually an ignoramus, as his pompous editorials often show, he regards himself as a wise, inflexible king. His powers are far more terrible than any powers of our government short of the legal death penalty. His goons might beat you to death, however, and the supreme court might knock it if the killing were done strictly in the interests of the union.

The court has actually condoned beatings in the union's interest.

In 1917, the hod-carriers' gang took over the international union of compressed air and foundation workers. No debate. No vote. In 1919 it took over all street cleaners' unions. No debate. No vote. Also in 1919 the A. F. of L. "awarded" thousands of shipyard workers to the hod-carriers in 1929, they absorbed the Tunnel and Subways Constructors' International Union.

In 1930, G. B. Dioguardi, a sports fellow with a racing stable, in return for certain considerations, added to Moreschi his outfit of faceless men—pigs, for all their volition in the matter—under a treaty merging the bricklayers' helpers' united building and common laborers' union with Moreschi's racket.

These racketeers are the people who sent out the expensive pamphlets and hired the radio time to tell you that Taft-Hartley meant slavery.

The Chinese always write their family names first.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Four members of the Ivy League, which is dead set against lending a hand to commercial, charitable or Chamber of Commerce promoters in putting on football "bowl" games, will send crews to Palm Beach, Fla., for a mid-winter regatta next Dec. 31.

Princeton, Yale, Cornell and Pennsylvania will participate. This could be because crews, notably the Princeton crew, are notoriously unprofitable, thus eliminating the stigma of commercialism, or because Palm Beach has a higher social rating than Miami, New Orleans, Pasadena, etc.

But those reasons don't exactly line up with the fact that Ivy League basketball teams will be junketing to all corners of the country this winter.

This dept. is hereby opening a campaign to send Princeton, which came up with a good November team, to one of the better bowl games. We think the Tigers could give almost any good team a rattle and put an end to the deplorable tendency to brush off eastern football as minor league stuff.

Alumni Day.

Penn State was leading Penn 7-0 when state's little Elwood Petchel tossed a pass that almost was intercepted. A loud-roared fan, who had been riding Coach Bob Higgins all day, yelled: "That's it, Higgins, throw the game away; throw it away, Higgins." Just then another pass clicked for a second Penn state touchdown.

Pausing only to get a handful of air, the alumni (it must have been one) went right on: "That's it, Higgins, pass 'em to death." Higgins, Cochrane, Indiana U. back, who had just acquired a leaving reluctantly for the regular Sunday evening conference with Notre Dame.

At a school where victory is so common place it is taken for granted, he has become legendary for his pessimism, but this time he called the turn correctly when he said of the key-up Northwestern Wildcats:

"We'll be lucky to win by one point."

He was absolutely right—Notre Dame was lucky to win at all in its last period drive which netted a touchdown and a thrilling 12 to 7 triumph.

Leahy made the remark to reporters before the game, admitting as he said it that "this may cause me to lose my audience."

It wasn't the first time this season that he had pictured his Irish on the brink of defeat. And he has been absolutely sincere about it. That winning by one point sort of a fact, he works so hard to keep his team keyed up through the theory of playing one game at a time, it affects him too. So every Saturday, he figures out what they play, he figures out what the toughest of the schedule.

The players are drilled constantly in the doctrine that if they let down, they'll be upset.

Northwestern victory, the 20th straight, and the third without defeat for Leahy since he returned from the navy in 1946, enabled this great Irish crew to tie identical marks set by the old Joe Sheeketski of Nevada, who in 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, and '35, on which Leahy was a star tackle. A Leahy-coached Irish hasn't been beaten since Great Lakes won in the last 30 seconds in 1940.

Today, as he looks back on his Notre Dame career in which he was won 49 games, lost three, and tied four, he feels that knee injury which kept him hospitalized for a time in 1930, might have been the turning point.

For at that same time Rockne also was laid up and the two shared a room. They talked of nothing but football and in 1931 Leahy remained to help coach the Irish, most of the year to Georgetown, Fordham and Boston College before going back to Notre Dame in 1940.

But compared with Rockne, Leahy is an entirely different strategist. He strives for perfection through hard work and repetition. Rockne, also a perfectionist, refused to let football interfere with fun. He made the boys realize that at all times they were playing a game with Leahy football is strictly business as reflected by his favorite philosophy to the players—"intelligent hard work brings success; you can be a success in football or in life if you work hard."

Despite reports to the contrary, Leahy still would like to play Michigan in a game to settle the national championship argument that has been raging for two years.

"We'd like to play Michigan any time, any where and for anything," he said. "But we haven't been able to arrange it. We'd probably get beat but we'd like to play."

As for post-season bowl game bids, the subject is a closed matter with Leahy.

"With us every game is a bowl game," he said.

Tech Halfback Named AIC Star of Week

Little Rock, Nov. 17 (AP)—Halfback Jack Simpson of Arkansas Tech, who has been nominated nearly every week of the season, has made the grade of Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference "star of the week."

The Wonder Boys' fast, elusive spunking, the leading ball carrier of the conference, was named today in the Associated Press' poll of AIC coaches for his play in Tech's victory over Henderson last weekend.

Simpson carried the ball 14 times for 99 yards, setting up one touchdown and putting the ball into position for another score which his team was unable to convert.

This brought the Fox-Smith sophomores' rushing yardage for seven conference games to 607.

Other players nominated for "star of the week," Backs Jack Scott, Magnolia A. and M. Willis Leslie, Arkansas A. M., and Lee Roy Plummer, Arkansas State Teachers; Guard Billy Hite, Arkansas Tech; and Center George Graham, Henderson; Troy Bledsoe, Hendrix.

About 2,000 people in the United States are struck by lightning each year and about 500 are killed.

Tigers Set for Little Rock Here Thursday

Yerger's Tigers take on one of the state's strongest Negro football teams here Thursday night when they meet Dunbar High of Little Rock at Hammond Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Despite bad weather early this week the Tigers went through practice sessions in an effort to iron out mistakes that cropped up in the Texarkana contest last week.

Coach Brooks said he expected one of the hardest games of the season.

Buckeyes All Keyed Up for Michigan

Columbus, O., Nov. 17 (AP)—The capital of the sovereign state of Ohio is going into its annual Michigan game dither this time with extra zip.

The town-doms are beating-with fervor if not conviction—"beat Michigan, beat Michigan," all along high street from the campus through downtown.

All it means is that the Ohio State University Buckeyes meet the Michigan Wolverines—generally regarded as the nation's No. 1 team—this Saturday. The Buckeyes go into the game with the odds against them. Pools around town are spotting the Buckeyes 14 points.

Coach Wesley Fessler himself, who brought the Buckeyes up from nowhere last season to a telephoto shot at the Rose Bowl, says that on paper, the Buckeyes "don't even belong on the same field" with them.

"But," Fessler told a homecoming banquet last night, "there is something more to the game and that is attitude. Our team has that. No one can convince me that our boys don't have a chance."

So, the Buckeyes await the game with the idea that if Truman could do it, why can't they?

Probably 85,000 people will see whether they can in the big Ohio Stadium with its official capacity of 76,677. Both Mutual and NBC networks are going to carry the full game to other thousands from coast to coast.

By Process of Elimination

Bill caught up with Gus on his way back to camp from deer hunting.

"All the boys back yet?"

"Yes."

"All six of them?"

"And they're all safe?"

"Yes."

"Then," said Bill, "I've shot a deer!"
